

- | | | |
|--|--|--|
| 1.2. No foundation of capitals in history of regal Rome after Romulus (ibid.) | 1.2. No foundation of capitals in history of Third Empire's after Constantine I in 300-552 A.D. | 1.2. No foundation of capitals in God-contending kingdom after Jeroboam I |
| 1.3. Co-ruled with brother Remus ([174], Bk. 1, 6-7) | 1.3. Constantine I co-ruled with Licinius (see above) | 1.3. Co-ruled with Jeroboam I (see above) |
| 1.4. Murder of Remus by Romulus (ibid.) | 1.4. Defeat of Licinius by Constantine I in Heliopolis. Murder of Licinius in battle with Constantine I near Adrianople | 1.4. Practically always at war (see above) |
| 1.5. Sole ruler after Remus' murder (ibid.) | 1.5. Sole ruler in 3rd Empire after Licinius' murder | 1.5. — |
| 1.6. Founders' names are close: RML = RM | 1.6. — | 1.6. Founders' names are close: JRBM = RBM |
| 1.7. Rape of Sabines during period of Rome's foundation (see below) | 1.7. — | 1.7. Famous capture of girls of Shiloh immediately before foundation of God-contending kingdom (see also below) (Jgs 21:25) |
| 1.8. Deified in his lifetime (Quirinus = deity) ([174], Bk. 1, 16) | 1.8. Deified in his lifetime (see above). Canonization by Christian Church. Appearance of Arianism (= Jeroboam's heresy?) | 1.8. Foundation of greatest religious movement, Jeroboam's heresy, playing important role in whole God-contending history |
| 1.9. Ascension to Gods, explicitly christianized point of view (even evangelical) ([174], Bk. 1, 16) | 1.9. Birth of Basil the Great in 333 A.D. at end of Constantine's life (died in 337 A.D.). Legends about Basil the Great are practically identical to those of Jesus = Asa. Hence, part of legends about Jesus = Asa possibly referring to end of Constantine's life | 1.9. Establishment by investigating both God-contending and God-praising streams that "king Asa" (Basil's, or Jesus' analogue) started "ruling" 2 years before Jeroboam, i.e., at end of his lifetime (Jeroboam I being Romulus' and Constantine's analogue) |